

MICRO-COLLEGE

Flagstaff College is a new, innovative micro-college in the mountain town of Flagstaff, Arizona. We admit between 12-20 students each year, providing generous scholarship support to those in need.

Our classes are small because we believe that when it comes to education, small is better. Much better.

LOCATION

At 7,000 feet, the city of Flagstaff is a high desert university town with 4 seasons, 288 days of sunshine, and irresistible high altitude beauty.

Located at the base of the San Francisco Peaks, and surrounded by the largest ponderosa pine forest in the world, we are 70 miles from the Grand Canyon and close to the lands of the Diné, Hopi, and Havasupai nations.

ONE MAJOR

In a world where threats to life are real and urgent, education is more than job training.

Our goal is to help people become thoughtful actors who have the know-how to create healthy ways of living on the planet. We offer a single major in “Sustainability and Social Change.”

CAMPUS

Flagstaff College does not own buildings. Instead we partner with local institutions for classroom and meeting spaces. The cost savings is substantial and is reflected in our very low tuition.

COST

We try hard to keep costs low so that you aren't burdened with heavy debt when you graduate. We are committed to providing private education at an affordable cost.

Our tuition is $12,500 a year-- much, much less than the average cost of other private colleges in the U.S. (for the 2020-2021 school year, a whopping $41,411).

WHERE TO LIVE

Flagstaff is a college town and that means there's an abundance of housing options throughout the city. Once you are accepted, we will connect you with other Flagstaff College students who are also seeking housing.

VALUES

We embrace process-relational worldviews that help us to think ecologically and holistically and to affirm life as intrinsically valuable.

Our curriculum is issue-based, integrative, and life-valuing.

CURRICULUM

We study problems and solutions, learning how to transform our un-ecological civilizations into ecological ones.

We emphasize big questions about meaning and purpose and practical questions about growing food, building local economies, making good policy, etc. And we take what we learn into the community, sharing our knowledge and practicing our skills in the real world.

COMMUNITY PARTNERS

We have a strong network of community partners who help extend the classroom into the community.

Our partners offer on-site learning experiences and mentoring to our students and include such organizations as the Grand Canyon Trust, Babbitt Ranches, Hopi Tutskwa Permaculture Institute, Flagstaff Foodlink, & many more.

WHAT CAN I DO WITH A DEGREE IN SUSTAINABILITY AND SOCIAL CHANGE?

A lot of things! You will graduate from Flagstaff College with knowledge of sustainability and experience in community-based problem solving.

- Cities, companies, and universities hire Sustainability Officers.
- Non-profits look for energetic people who understand the big picture and have the skills and experience to get things done.
- There are jobs in sustainable food systems, energy, planning, and design.

People with excellent communication skills are needed everywhere.
